

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT Adopted Building Codes

2012 International Property Maintenance Code

2012 International Building Code (with insignificant amendments) and some appendixes including:

- Appendix E – Supplemental accessibility requirements
- Appendix F – Rodent proofing

2012 International Residential Code (with significant amendments) and some appendixes including:

- Appendix E – Manufactured housing used as dwellings
- Appendix F – Radon control methods Save
- Appendix G – Swimming pools
- Appendix J – Existing buildings and structures
- Significant amendment: To Section 313.2 add under exception: “an automatic residential fire sprinkler system shall not be required for new buildings that use framing components or systems composed of dimensional lumber.”

2012 International Mechanical Code (with insignificant amendments)

2012 International Plumbing Code (with insignificant amendments)

2012 International Fuel Gas Code (with insignificant amendments)

2012 International Fire code (with insignificant amendments)

2011 National Electrical Code (with no amendments)

2012 International Existing Building Code (with no amendments)